ON TO WORLD UNITY

We dedicate this Echo to World Unity, without which the nations of the world cannot expect to achieve a just and lasting peace. May we, the students of Webster Groves High School, by exercising respect toward our fellow men and tolerance and judgment in our daily living, contribute in some way to the attainment of a unified world.

"How good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

*Isabelle Bryans Longfellow

Dimly the dawn breaks
From the long night;
Over the lost hills,
A growing light.

Stars, hung low in windows
Far and near,
Slowly, one by one,
Will disappear.

Only the heart windows
Forever hold,
Remembering the night
Their stars of gold!

ADMINISTRATION

In order to carry forward and further develop the initial plans for unification which have been proposed by present-day statesmen, the youth of today must have trained and competent leaders. The responsibility for the development of such leaders rests largely with our administration and faculty. Their high standard for scholarship and their interest in the character of the individual make our teachers invaluable in the preparation of Webster Groves youth for the future work of world unification.

LEONARD A. STEGER

Superintendent of Schools

The combined thought, effort, and heroic sacrifices of the Allied Nations brought the most devastating war in history to a victorious end. As that gigantic spectacle fades into the recent past, reverberations of differences between major powers loom large on the horizon. These difficulties are disturbing indeed to a war-weary world.

The time seems very short for the waging of peace. The best instrument to come from the minds of contemporary statesmen for settling differences amicably between the nations of the world has been set in motion. It is striving diligently and desperately to meet the problems of reconstruction and to build unity and good will among men. If success is to be achieved in developing world unity, these leaders need the help and understanding and expressed conviction of many world citizens.

As individual citizens of a great nation, to which the world is looking for leadership, it is our responsibility to seek out and continuously foster all those forces of good will which contribute to world unity. This is a task which will require diligence, perseverance, and vigilance. Short of war, the price of enduring peace is worth any cost.

HOWARD A. LATTA

Principal of High School

The dedication of the 1946 Echo to world unity is an appropriate expression of what probably should be the primary concern of people the world around. For years world unity has been sought by a few but looked upon by many as an idealistic dream.

Within the last few years scientific development has thrust nations upon one another much as families who find themselves rubbing elbows in a large urban apartment building. Their habits of isolation and aloof dealings have been jolted into misunderstandings, mistrust, and open friction. Very recent proof of super powers for destruction—a mere sampling of what might be developed—has shocked nations into the necessity of finding a way to live together.

World unity begins at home—in the family, in the school, in the community, and in the nation. It is achieved by learning to work together in harmony in an ever expanding sphere.

If Webster Groves High School has truly served its purpose for you, it has been a laboratory for world unity. A few years ago most of you left five elementary schools for which you had built keen loyalties. You were certain that your school and its traditions were the best. Within a year or two these loyalties were largely forgotten. Your former customs, beliefs, and loyalties blended into new ways of working together. There is still a warm spot in your memory for the old school, but you now realize how narrow and foolish some of those loyalties were.

If you have truly learned how false your opinion of the other fellow may be—that your freedom ends where the other man's begins—and that life is a process of "give and take," you have learned the basic fundamentals of world unity.

CLASSES

Classes play a vital role in the preparation of Webster Groves youth for their future lives as citizens. Through these formal gatherings the students gain not only a knowledge of textbook material but also valuable experience in discussing present-day affairs and world problems. These experiences develop in them a firm belief in the ideal of World Unity and the realization that only through their determined efforts will this cherished goal be realized.

O. B.,
To be last of us to be in the future. We've had lots of fun this year, I'm glad to have

Mid Seniors

"We hope you're concentrating!"

The mid year eleventh grade class was divided into two homerooms under Miss Swank and Mr. Johnson. Originally Miss Saxon had Mr. Johnson's group, but she was replaced by him when he returned from the service at the beginning of the second semester. The mid-year group was much larger in previous years, but, as is customary, many have either dropped back half a grade or accelerated their program in order that they might graduate in June.

Although they were a small group, they were well represented in all the activities throughout school. The Pep Club, Hi-Y, G. A. A., Pan Am, Riding Club, Production Staff, and Latin Club were all supported by students from this class. Other mid seniors were hard working members of the A Cappella Choir, the band, and the orchestra. Several contributed time and work to the Webster Echo, The Echo, and the Latinus Rumor staffs. In sports the students were also active. Some of the boys were on varsity teams and the girls played in after-school sports.

The members of the class always gave their full support to all the campaigns. They gave freely to the Red Cross drive, bought savings stamps every Tuesday, and helped put over the Tuberculosis campaign.

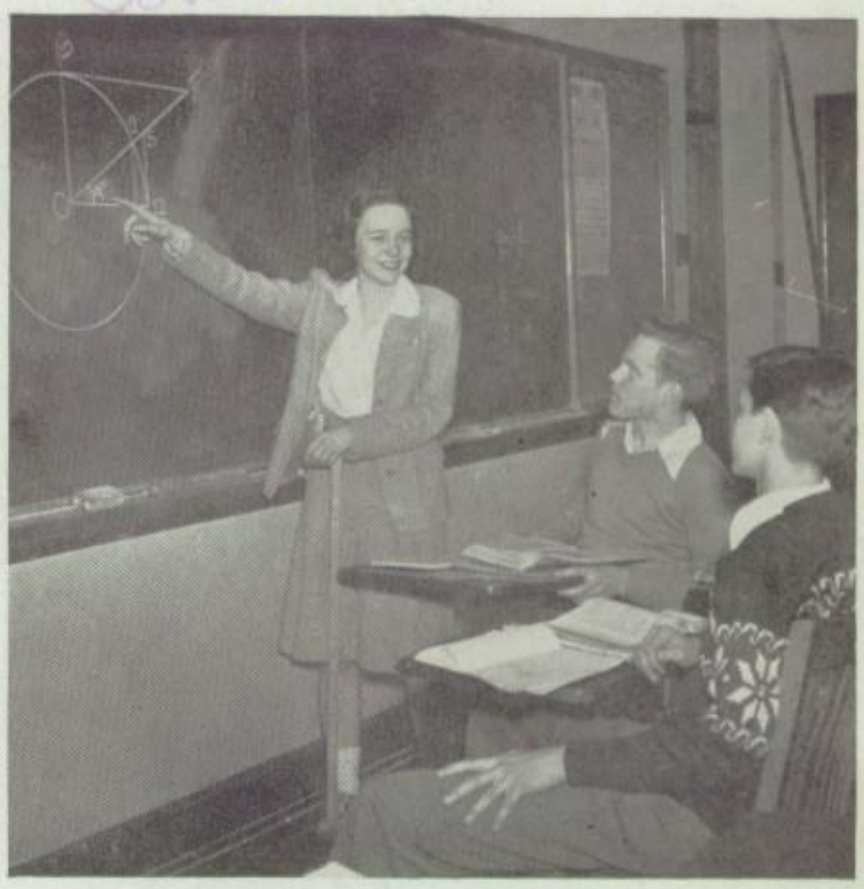
Juniors



Sine or Cosine?

The 1946 Junior Class was the largest class in school with ten homerooms, two of which were mid-year groups. Miss Swank was their chief sponsor, and their counselor was Miss Jones.

Each homeroom elected its officers, and these students formed the Junior Governing Body which held meetings on call of their president, Bob Cooper. The class elected Jim Sprick vice-president and Eleanor Leedham secretary. As a money-making project the governing group carried out plans for a junior prom. The dance was the "Carnation Prom" and was held on March 9 in the junior girls' gym. The five maids elected by the junior boys were Doris Behymer, Joan Dorsett, Margaret Drake, Ann Matrindale, and Ann Williams. The name of the queen was kept secret until the night of the Prom. Then just when everyone thought he could wait no longer, Jim Sprick introduced Bob Cooper, who disclosed the lucky girl's name. Margaret Drake was the girl chosen from the five maids. This was the first time for several years that there had been a prom for the juniors, and it took hard work on their part to bring one about.

The members of the junior class were most active in all phases of school life. Herb Nolan won first place in the American Legion Oratorical Contest. In sports, especially, the juniors have been most prominent. More girls from the junior class have been on varsity basketball, hockey, and volleyball teams than from any other class. This year Carol Pence won the national junior 440 yard free style feature event in the Y. M. H. All these events were only a few of the more important undertakings of the juniors. The beginning choir was made up almost entirely of juniors, and there were several in advanced choir. Pan Am, G. A. A., Latinus Rumor, The Echo,

Juniors

The Webster Echo, Riding Club, and the Pep Club had many active members who were juniors. As a class they have faithfully contributed to the Red Cross and have brought their full share of savings stamps every week. The school president, the senior school president, the cheer leaders for 1946-47 will be chosen from this enthusiastic group of juniors, and there should be a very fine group of students to lead the school activities.

Spring fever?

Mid Juniors

By last fall members of the January class of '48 were beginning to get used to changing subjects in the middle of the year and trying to remember in September what they had learned in June. Already some of the students have given up trying to remember and have either dropped back half a year or gone forward to the eleventh grade.

This year's mid junior class had only forty-nine members, and they were divided into two conference rooms with Miss Hackett and Mr. Hicks as conference teachers. Miss Iona Jones served as their counselor. In Miss Hackett's room, the students elected Earl Hobbs president; and in Mr. Hicks' room, Len Owen was chosen president.

In school affairs this group was well represented by active students. They had representatives at all the Student Council meetings as well as at the Red Cross meetings. In their homerooms they always gave generously to the campaigns and faithfully bought savings stamps every Tuesday.

The mid junior boys showed their interest in sports by going out for the teams in earnest. Several of them have been rewarded by making the track, football, or basketball squads. The girls played in afternoon sports under the direction of Miss Daniel.

Sophomores

Early in the fall the entire sophomore class held a meeting for the purpose of electing their class officers for the year. They chose John Noonan as their president, Don Peat as vice-president, and Jean Weaver as secretary-treasurer. The nine conference rooms also elected their own officers, whose duties were to take attendance, lead home-room discussions, and read the daily announcements.

English was the only required subject, and the remainder of the program was chosen to fit the individual's interest and abilities. Many students chose to study a language such as Latin, Spanish, or French; a math course, either geometry or algebra; and biology or modern history. Clothing, arts, dramatics, foods, glee club, typing, and instrumental music were also on the list of electives.

Both the girls and boys of this class were very interested in athletics. The boys took an active part in the football season. In basketball, many boys played on the sophomore team; and one boy, Don Peat, made the varsity squad. The boys also enjoyed track and baseball. Many girls entered enthusiastically into the girls' athletics. In each of the four sports there was a sophomore team which played against other schools. Some of the girls made the varsity teams.

The class held a dance and party before Thanksgiving in order to raise money for their class gift to be presented to the school when they become seniors. The junior girls' gym was decorated for the dance and the music was furnished by Bob Urban's band. In the junior boys' gym were refreshments as well as entertainments, such as basketball and bean bag throws and movies.

In April the sophomore boys challenged the juniors to a baseball game. This contest took place at Forty Acres. In the same month the class held a second "get-together." In the afternoon there were baseball games and relay races in which everyone participated. The evening's entertainment included a box supper and an informal dance.

Each conference room sent a representative and alternate to the Student Council and the Red Cross. These students were among the most active in these organizations.

When they became part of the senior school, the sophomores were eligible to join many clubs. The G. A. A. gained many active girls as did the Pep Club and Bi-Y. The boys joined the Rifle Club, and both girls and boys became members of Pan Am, Latin Club, and the Riding Club.

Freshmen

The ninth grader was really lost when he came into the high school, because, for him, high school life was just beginning and the prospect was a little terrifying. However, this year the whole class had an exceptionally good start. There were about two hundred and seventy-five freshmen, and they were divided into nine homerooms. The teachers in charge of these homerooms were: Miss Botticher, Mr. Case, Mr. Connard, Mrs. Hamaker, Mr. Leach, Miss Leaver, Miss Henneke, Mr. Petty, and Mrs. Roeder. Miss McClain was the class counselor.

Freshmen

When the freshmen organized, they chose Bob Rutishauser for their president and Doug Simpson for their vice-president. Meetings were held on call of the president.

The freshmen kept up their organization, the Forty-niners, which was started the year before. It was thus named because the class will graduate in 1949. The entire grade belonged to the organization, and its activities were almost entirely social. One of its projects was a valentine party. Although the organization was managed and chaperoned by the parents and Miss McClain, the activities were planned by the students.

A freshman has several choices to make concerning his studies. He has two required subjects, English and physical training. The rest of his course is chosen according to his after-school plans. Most freshmen tackle a language and also try their hand at algebra. Aside from academic courses, they have an opportunity to try the practical arts, such as home economics or industrial arts.

It's only a six-cent fine this time.

Sports held the interest of many a ninth grader. There were some outstanding players who will, undoubtedly, help carry future varsity teams to victory. Nor were the girls left out, for almost any day freshmen girls were staying for after-school athletics.

The 250 members of the eighth grade were organized into seven homerooms, and each homeroom had its own president, secretary, and adviser. The presidents of the homerooms were: Carolyn Clark, Jack Hodges, Jerry Hurt, Bob Menke, Ronnie Merell, Betty Schneider, and Mary Wyrick. The grade counselor, Miss Webster, was in charge of attendance and advising the students. Each eighth grader had a conference with Mr. Verby and his parents concerning his program for the following years. In each case, a tentative four year schedule was planned.

Much of the routine business was handled in the homeroom, and it was here that the student heard reports from his representatives in the Student Council and Red Cross.

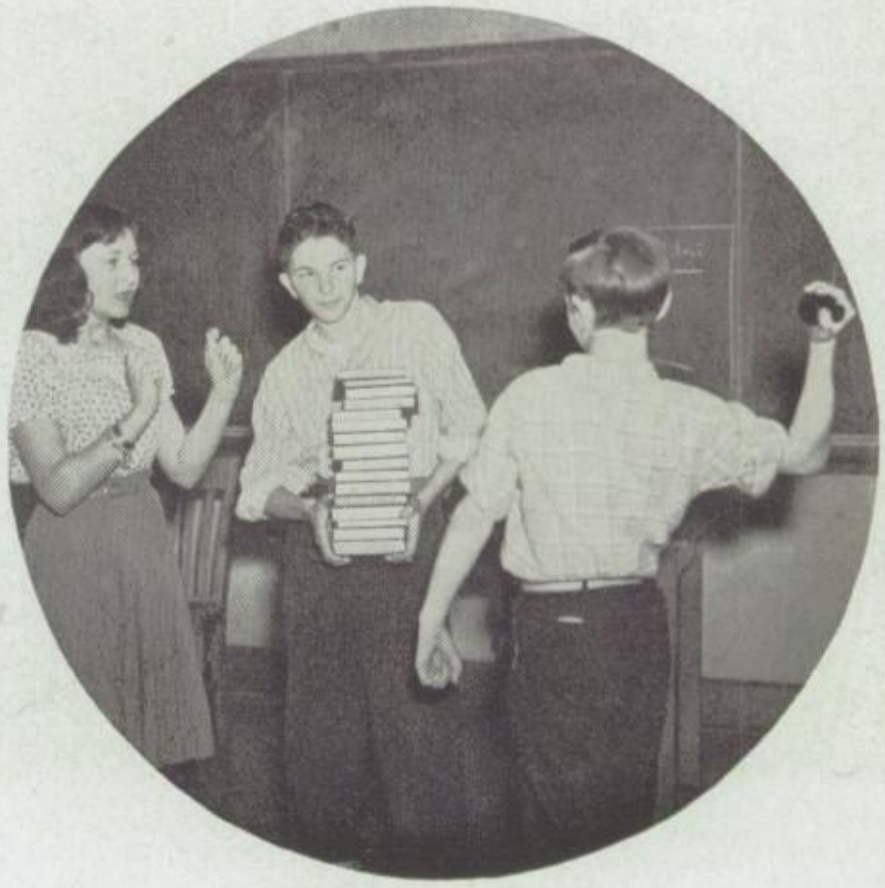
The eighth grader spent two hours during the school day in bloc, English, history, or social studies, spelling, and current events. During the first semester, geography was studied one hour each day; during the other semester, the course was general science. One period a day was spent with mathematics, and another was alternated between gym and reading. Each semester one elective was chosen from the following group: art, applied crafts, creative writing, dramatics, directed study, foods and nutrition, home economics, industrial arts, instrumental music, and vocal music.

Although they were hampered by a lack of gym facilities, the eighth graders participated in athletics—the girls in after-school volleyball, and the boys in basketball.

The eighth grade, having named itself the "Nifty Fifties," met once a week for a dancing class under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Cowles of the Arthur Murray studios. This class was open to all and gave several parties during the year. In the spring, a dance-carnival was planned for all eighth graders.



"Thespians of 1950"

The eighth graders had an active year and looked forward to another next year as ninth graders and leaders of the junior school.

Seventh Grade

The step from grade school to junior high is quite an important yet strange experience. The student finds that he is the smallest member in a large group, where before he was the important one. He must learn to associate with new friends and to regulate his school life to meet the demands of a new type of school system.

In the fall of 1945 approximately two hundred and thirty students were enrolled in the seventh grade. The class was divided into seven conference rooms supervised by the following teachers: Miss Jean Christie, Mrs. Pauline Davis, Miss Lillian Roberts, Miss Ada Hoover, Miss Elisabeth Tompkins, Miss Rosina Shepardson, and Miss Mary Ellen Saxon. Miss Jackson was appointed counselor for this class.

Seventh Grade

Two or three periods of the day were combined into a "bloc" and spent under one teacher. During the bloc English and social studies were taught. Other subjects which are required in the seventh grade are music, speech, and library reading. Some students chose instrumental music as an elective.

The seventh graders, who do not have the opportunity to participate in many of the school's activities, planned a party which they gave in March. The entertainment consisted of games, and was supervised by the parents.

The girls of the seventh grade had the opportunity to take part in after-school ping pong, shuffle board, volleyball, basketball, and jacks tournaments in competition with eighth and ninth grade girls. There were no after-school sports offered for the boys, but many of them were in the boys' choir.

Mathematic Mysteries

A representative reported the activities of the Student Council and Red Cross to the home rooms once a week. All of the home rooms contributed to the Red Cross drives. The seventh graders were also active in the buying of War Savings Stamps which were sold in the home rooms.

ACTIVITIES

Activities at Webster provide the student with an opportunity to pursue individual interests and talents and to develop a well-rounded personality. Through the various organizations he may gain the ability to lead as well as to follow and to subordinate his wishes to the wishes of the group. In this manner he will develop the type of character that is required of one who is to lead in the establishment and preservation of a unified world.

Junior Student Council

Junior School Bigwigs

The Junior Student Council met every Tuesday afternoon under the leadership of Levon Zakarian, junior school president, and the sponsor, Miss Brantley. The other officers were: Bob Rutishauser, vice-president, and Jim Porter, secretary-treasurer.

The members of the council were divided into several committees. One committee was in charge of the promotion of the sales of War Bonds and Stamps. The management of the bicycle rack was under the care of a group of boys. A third committee phoned those who had been absent for at least three days to see if any help in school subjects could be given. The system of monitors was under the jurisdiction of another committee. The publicity committee kept the junior school informed of any special activities through a bulletin board, on which the daily announcement sheet was also placed.

Each member was chosen by his homeroom to represent it in the council, and he made a report each week as to what occurred at the meeting.

Senior Student Council

The Senior Council, consisting of thirty-one representatives, who were elected by their respective classes, met every Monday during the sixth hour. Each representative was on one of the three main committees—social, assembly, or activity ticket. The social committee planned two dance-carnivals; one was the first big event of the year, and the other was given to raise money for an athletic fund. The assembly committee arranged the assemblies for both schools from outside and student material. The activity ticket committee handled the sale of activity tickets at the beginning of the school year and then took over the promotion of the Victory Bond drive. A special committee, organized to seek a remedy for the pre-Turkey Day game troubles with Kirkwood, planned a pep rally and an excellent program, which did solve the problem of students going to Kirkwood. The council was guided by Steve Schmid—senior school president, Bill Peterson—both school president, Mary Roessel—secretary, and the sponsor—Mr. Shelton.

Le Cercle Francais

Parlez-vous francais?

The familiar phrase, "La seance est auvert," meant to Le Cercle Francais the opening of another Tuesday afternoon spent in a true French manner. The meetings were conducted almost entirely in that language since everyone, having completed one year of French, was expected to understand. The meeting usually consisted of the playing of French games, listening to records, or singing. At Christmas the club celebrated the holiday, "Le Jour des Rois," with a party held at the home of Ann Shoemaker, the president. Steve Schmid was elected vice-president, and Mary Roessel secretary-treasurer. Miss Sadie Jane Woods was the sponsor.

One main highlight of the year's program was the visit of Madame Comte, who formerly lived in Switzerland. Her visit gave the members an opportunity to hear the French language spoken fluently. The club visited old French landmarks in downtown St. Louis. These activities provided both entertainment and educational value; thus the members absorbed French culture and received a great amount of enjoyment from it.

The Junior Red Cross - Senior Chapter

The upper and lower school Red Cross organizations undertook a large number of projects this year which were successfully carried out. The first real big job thoroughly accomplished was the packing of Christmas boxes for soldiers overseas. The money left from these contributions was used to buy games, gum, etc., for hospitalized soldiers at Jefferson Barracks. Their biggest project was the membership drive held in November. From this they collected $132 to be given to the national Red Cross fund. At Christmas a collection was made for gift boxes to be sent to children at the Missouri Society for Crippled Children. Through the home rooms the Red Cross collected money in February for boxes which were sent to children in Europe.

Miss Ruth Bynum headed both branches of the organization and Miss Sadie Jane Woods sponsored the upper school group. Virginia Page was president, Betty Bachle—vice-president, Patty Ives—secretary, and Marjean Schiffman—treasurer. Carolyn Hartnett became treasurer the second semester.

Conventus Latinus

"And now, on my right, downstairs," was heard one Thursday afternoon as the president of the club conducted the "Dr. I. Q." program at one of the Latin Club meetings. The monthly programs provided opportunities for learning as well as fun.

The club showed a spirit of charity by giving donations to the Farmington Orphanage and the Junior Red Cross.

The Conventus Latinus, sponsored by Miss Hazel K. Farmer, is one of the largest and oldest organizations in the school.

The Latinus Rumor

Every month the bright and cleverly illustrated cover of the Latinus Rumor was seen about the school as the eager Latin students were reading their papers. Many alumni as well as students subscribed to the Latinus Rumor, and the paper was on the exchange list with three other schools in the United States.

Spreading the Rumor

Each issue was three pages long with the colored cover appropriately illustrated for the season. The paper contained a crossword puzzle, a joke column, a book review, and a quiz, as well as the main articles on the Romans and their various customs. There were two special and enlarged issues, the Christmas paper and the paper in celebration of Latin Week.

The staff members, under the sponsorship of Miss Hazel K. Farmer, were as follows: editors—Jim Deitz and Caryl Bader; associate editors—Wilma Jones and Polly Pierson; art editors—Virginia Page and Peggy Pieper; feature editors—Martha Jewett, Bebe Phillips, Pat Broeder, and Jane Anderson. The paper offered the opportunity for many Latin students to exhibit their talent.

The Webster Echo

Between Deadlines

Once again the Webster Echo staff established and upheld, throughout the year, excellent journalistic standards. The paper kept students informed of events around school by means of the news and sports pages and provided entertainment through the feature and editorial pages. The staff had a good time in addition to the work and rush involved in "meeting the deadline."

Officers of the Echo for this year, its thirtieth year of publication, were as follows: editor, Mary Ann Prichard; news editor, Joy Cromwell for the first semester, and Pat Broeder and Kennerly Woody for the second semester; feature editors, Caryl Bader and Jim Deitz; sports editor, Bill Barnes; copy editor, Eleanor Ruble; business manager for the first semester, Gordon Russell, and for the second semester Curtis Burton; circulation manager, Jay Watkins; and advertising manager, Jane Howe. Miss Howard was the sponsor.

The most important social event carried out by the Echo staff was the Paper Prom, a dance held February 23, at which Peggy Krimmel was crowned "Paper Doll" by Bill Barnes.

The Echo

For thirty-three years the yearbook has brought the students a true picture of high school life through the pictures and articles between its covers. This year the staff attempted to make the 1946 edition of The Echo both an interesting memory book and a typical cross-section of the school year with its varied activities.

The publication of the Echo is made possible through advertising, selling candy at athletic games and after school, operating the school book store, selling Turkey Day buttons and Webster stickers, individual picture tax, and subscriptions. The work involved in making a year book covers many fields: writing, editing, photography, printing, advertising and business, and circulation.

Members of the Echo staff who fulfill certain qualifications are eligible for membership in the Quill and Scroll, and the yearbook itself is a member of the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association, the National Scholastic Press Association, and the Columbia Press Association.

Tri-Y

Tri-Y was started three years ago for the sophomore girls. Their motto is "To find and give the best."

At the bi-monthly meetings discussions were held on fashion and modeling and the vocation of an airline hostess.

First semester officers were: president, Jane Warzeniak; vice-president, Shirley Pinckert; treasurer, Peggy Krimmel; secretary, Betty Johnson; sponsor, Mrs. Bodman. The second semester Shirley Pinckert became president, Marilyn Rice was elected vice-president, and Miss Toner was chosen the new sponsor.

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y once again lived up to its high standards set in former years. A program for the year was planned by the officers at a series of summer meetings. During the year the club met once a week at the new "Y" to discuss various topics. A few were college, vocations, Christian ethics, and racial minorities. They also had interesting speakers, including Mr. Borzinsky of Russia and Chuck Mangold, one of the club's sponsors.

As in previous years, the Hi-Y joined with the Kirkwood Hi-Y to give the traditional Friendship Dance and to crown the football queen of each school.

Again the publication of the Buzz Book, an annual project of the group, was successfully carried out. This served both as a money making project for the club and a service to the school.

The officers were: Dick Long, president; Jay Watkins, vice-president; Bob Zinke, secretary; and Bob Farris, treasurer. The second semester Bushy Buschman served as president, Dick Long as vice-president, and Bob Ruhe as secretary.

Bi-Y

"The meeting will come to order—maybe!"

The Bi-Y, which is a part of the world-wide Girl Reserves, is a club consisting of about fifty-five sophomore girls. The Bi-Y was formed in the fall of 1945 by the girls who had formerly been members of the Mono-Y. Its purpose is to promote friendship and to perform service for others. At the beginning of the year there was a rush party which was followed up by initiations. In November the girls gave a tea which was held at school. At each meeting they had a program on international friendship and heard reports on the Inter-City Council. The representatives of the Inter-City Council were Dorothy Carrol, Rosemary Higgins, and Priscilla Johns.

The officers were elected in January and in the spring. The officers for January 1946 were: president, Frederica Chamberlain; vice-president, Rosemary Higgins; secretary, Dorothy Carrol; treasurer, Barbara De Boer; sergeant-at-arms, Peggy Todd. The sponsors for this year were Miss Lily Epps and Miss Hackett.

Mono - Y

The Mono-Y, one of the newest clubs at Webster High, got off to a late start this year but the attendance was good. The club consisted of about forty-seven ninth grade girls. The main object of the Mono-Y is to "promote friendship and give service to others." Programs to carry out these aims were planned by the officers who were: Emily Howe—president; Judy Berthold—secretary; Genevieve Reuter—treasurer; and Allene Frank—sergeant-at-arms. The sponsors were Miss Elizabeth Tompkins and Mrs. Dorothy Broadwell.

Mono-Y session

At the beginning of the year the girls had two initiations to receive all those who wished to become members. Bi-monthly meetings were held at one of which Miss Steir of the downtown Y.W.C.A. spoke to the members on the purpose of "Y" clubs. At another meeting, Mrs. Broadwell told about "Y" camps. Miss Replogle once led them in community singing which proved much to their liking.

Thespians

"Broadway, here we come"

Thespians is a national honor society of girls and boys fired with the fervor of acting. To become a member of Thespians one must first prove his worthiness. He must cooperate with the teacher and other students, have a real interest in acting, and be dependable and willing to work. He must also have to his credit one hundred and fifty hours, either from working on the production staff, or from acting in a major production. Students who were eligible and were asked to join this society went through two initiations, a mock and a formal one. Above all, Thespians live up to their motto—"Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

Miss Seibert, who took over the coaching of the dramatics department this year, was the sponsor. Betty O'Brien was president, Jane Howe—secretary, and Louann Smith and Pat Broeder—treasurers.

The four major productions in which the Thespians participated this year were: "Quality Street," "My Sister Eileen," "Kind Lady," and "June Mad."

The International Quill and Scroll

To be able to wear the small gold pin of the international honorary society for high school journalists is the aim of the members of the annual and paper staffs. To be eligible for membership, a student must be a junior or senior, rank in the upper third of his class, render superior service in some phase of journalistic work, be recommended by the sponsor of a school publication, and be approved by the international secretary. The officers this year were: Caryl Bader, president; Mary Ann Prichard, vice-president; and Harriet Woods, secretary-treasurer. The society is under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Howard.

The club met every two weeks on Wednesday nights at the homes of the members. Several of the meetings were devoted to the planning of an assembly, which was presented for the school. At other meetings the members enjoyed listening to speakers outstanding in the fields of literature and journalism. The Quill and Scroll, therefore, is fun and interesting as well as honorary.

Pep Club

The Pep Club is a large organization of girls who are interested in athletics, who like the companionship of other girls, and who are alive with plenty of school spirit.

The Club was first organized in 1924 as "The Yellow Jackets." The first members organized the club because they were interested in increasing enthusiasm in Webster athletic events. In 1933 the title "The Yellow Jackets" was dropped, and Pep Club became the new name.

held a big rush party to invite new members. This rush party is one of the big affairs of the year for the Club with elaborate entertainment, refreshments, and cheering led by the three girl cheerleaders: Marty Ruddy, Peggy Krimmel, and Nancy Hamel. The rules and regulations were also explained by the president for the benefit of the rushees.

The sponsor of these girls is Miss Dorothy Daniel, physical education teacher for the senior school girls. For the year 1946 the officers were Dorothy Worley—president, Janet Fattmann—secretary, and Nancy Salveter—treasurer.

The girls sold hot dogs, popcorn, and potato chips at the football games. They also sold Pep Club hats and insignias to members.

Momentous decision

This year the Pep Club's activities were curtailed because all the home games were held at the Maplewood High School. Although the orange and black banner was not always displayed, the members could still be identified by their white shirts or sweaters.

G. A. A.

The purpose of the Girls Athletic Association is to promote good sportsmanship in girls' athletics. To be eligible for membership a girl must earn one hundred points in after-school sports; and to retain membership, fifty points must be earned every semester. Activities of the club, sponsored by Miss Daniel, included a May Fete and a spring banquet.

Officers for this year were: president, Peggy Krimmel; vice-president, Shirley Pinckert; secretary, Janet Fattmann; treasurer, Nancy Salveter.

Production Staff

The Production Staff is an organization of students who do not appear before the footlights. Yet this staff could make or break a play, for without smooth mechanism of all parts, a play, like a motor, cannot run.

The purpose of this organization is to give credit where the credit is due, for without it, these students would go unrewarded. Many do not realize the hard work that goes on behind stage.

Miss Seibert chose the production staff for each play, and every person carried on their duties under her supervision, almost like professional crew members. The staff worked after school, Saturdays, and nights, to make each dramatic presentation a success. Words such as flies, toggle rails, and other words of dramatic vocabulary are second nature to these students.

The men behind the scenes

The production staff was divided into crews that worked on properties, lights, make-up, costumes, ticket sales, publicity, sound, stage crew, and house management. The hours put in on this type of work count as credit towards Thespians.

"Give a man a horse he can ride"

The Riding Club

After a lapse of four years, the Riding Club was reorganized this year under the sponsorship of Miss Cherbonnier. As in previous years, the Riding Club was a mixed group of students from the senior school.

The members rode at the Missouri Stables if they preferred English saddles; but if they desired western saddles, they rode at other stables found along highway 66.

Anyone who was interested in knowing about horses and riding, and helping the promotion of good sportsmanship could join this club. The members were required to ride at least once a month to retain their membership, and they also had to be at each meeting.

After rides the club usually went somewhere for hamburgers and a coke. Students, this was one club that was all play.

The officers for 1946 were: Jane Killinger—president, Bill Shilkett—treasurer, and Loretta Darigo—secretary. The boys and girls hope to keep this club active at Webster in years to come.

Library Assistants

The student library assistants were a great help to other students in school who were constantly needing books for reference, pleasure reading, or to meet a last minute deadline of the English teachers. Miss Allen, who returned after a year's absence, was the head librarian, and until December, Mrs. Hafner was her assistant. For the second semester, Mrs. Holaday worked as assistant to Miss Allen. The student library assistants checked out books, kept information sources in order, helped students find material, and kept account of the overdue books. Two assistants were at work each period, one to check books out, and the other to take incoming books and charge fines on overdue books. This work is hard, but it is the best way to learn the "ins" and "outs" of a library.

Boys' Rifle Club

"Well, it's this way."

The thirty-five members of the Boys Rifle Club, which is under the sponsorship of Mr. John Hicks and Mr. Gordon Trotter, met twice a week after school at the Washington University range not only to practice their marksmanship and improve their skill in shooting, but also to learn more about the care and handling of firearms and the principles of good sportsmanship.

Jack Lonergan was elected to preside over the club this year, Don Dunbar was chosen vice-president, and Frank Jamieson was elected secretary-treasurer.

The rifle team which was composed of Jim Amos, Tom Gingrich, Frank Jamieson, Jack Lonergan, Jim Rosborough, and Ed Schumacher, entered the Greater St. Louis Rifle League, which started in January and extended through February. C.B.C. won first place honors; Cleveland, second place; and Webster, third place. The team also entered the William Randolph Hearst Junior Trophy competition, a national tournament, in March and the Washington University Invitational High School Rifle Match in April.

Girls' Rifle Club

Because the ten members of the Girls Rifle Club were unable to secure a range on which to shoot, the girls, all juniors, decided at the only meeting to discontinue the club for this year. However, officers were elected as follows: Barbara Schlutius, president; Jean Von Hoffmann, secretary; and Margaret Sprout, treasurer. Miss May Canepa, a teacher at Lockwood Elementary School, was chosen sponsor.

Last year the ten met in the rifle range at the old armory; and, although the club possessed only four rifles, all members were fortunate enough to learn how to handle a gun and shoot with accuracy. The girls hope that next year a shooting range may be obtained and that the club will again become an active organization.

Office Assistants

About thirty girls from the clerical classes of Mrs. Greeson and Miss Preuhs gained valuable experience working as office assistants during school. They alternated typing, cutting stencils, mimeographing, filing, answering telephones, distributing mail, messages, and announcements, running errands, and the like. Some took advantage of the opportunity of working after school for pay.

The Audio-Visual Operators Club is a group of students who operate the movie and public address equipment of the school. Chemistry Club

Chemistry Club members could be found in room 205 every other Wednesday afternoon after school watching or carrying out interesting, scientific demonstrations. At one of the meetings a balloon filled with hydrogen gas was released. Tied to this balloon was a note requesting information as to the whereabouts of its landing; however, as yet, no news concerning the balloon has been received. The finding of the amount of silver in a dime and the making of paint were only a few of the other more interesting experiments carried out at other meetings.

Composed of thirty eager students, most of them seniors, the club was again under the sponsorship of "Doc" Schulz. The officers, elected early in the year, were: Jim Deitz, president; Clyde Vadner, vice-president; Bob Fariss, secretary; and Dick Russell, treasurer.

Advanced A Cappella Choir

Hap, Rip, Red, and Red!

This year the Advanced A Cappella Choir, directed by Miss Replogle, was very much in evidence in high school activities. The get-acquainted picnic held at the beginning of the year was followed a few days later by the election of officers. Bill Rippley headed the choir with Corky Russell and Hap Hamel as vice-presidents, Fredna Parker —secretary, Virginia Page—recording secretary, Virginia Theis—alumni secretary, and Joye Inglis and Bob Zinke—treasurers.

During November the choir made its first public appearance at the State Teachers Convention at Kiel Auditorium. Then four days later they sang at an Avery P. T. A. meeting.

During the holiday season the choir gave a broadcast of Christmas music over KMOX, entertained the Rotary Club, and also took a leading part in the Christmas Vesper Services, which were held on December twentieth, twenty-first, and twenty-third. In addition to these activities, the choir sang in several school assemblies, entertained at the annual Vandervoort Employees Dinner, and also sang before the District Rotary.

Beginning A Cappella

The strains of music echoing through the halls during second hour were conclusive evidence that the Beginning A Cappella Choir directed by Miss Replogle was hard at work. This year the group was made up of approximately seventy-five boys and girls of the sophomore and junior classes. Before one was accepted into the choir, he had an individual conference with Miss Replogle. In this conference the prospective member was obliged to sing and also demonstrate other musical abilities which he might have. Although this organization was not quite as active as the Advanced A Cappella, it was generally considered to be just as important, for it was here its members prepared for advanced work.

Beginning choir held a get-acquainted picnic at the home of the Pennells early in October. After the officers were elected, Jerry Sick took over his duties as president, Peggy Rodgers as secretary, and Tippy Grone as treasurer.

Girls' Chorus

The Girl's Chorus, whose president was Carol Davis, was under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Gasser and was open to any girl in the ninth and tenth grades who wished to participate in group singing and obtain a better knowledge of vocal interpretation and appreciation. In December some of the girls gave a program of Christmas carols at Jefferson Memorial.

Mixed Chorus

This year a mixed chorus was organized for those ninth and tenth grade students who desired to gain more musical knowledge or singing ability. Nancy Hagemann presided over this group which was directed by Mrs. Lillian Gasser.

The chorus studied various forms of music among which were sacred, light opera, and secular numbers, as well as Negro spirituals. It was in this chorus that interested students learned the fundamentals of music necessary for advanced work.

Concert Orchestra

Bach's 5th Symphony in Progress

The advanced high school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Carl Werner was composed, for the most part, of advanced instrumental music students of the senior high school; however, several ninth graders also were members. The majority of these students were formerly members of the Lower School Orchestra. The boys and girls of this orchestra, which met first hour, elected the following officers: Jean Weaver, president; Rene Wiegert, vice-president; Louann Gewinner, secretary; Douglas Clemens, treasurer; and William Randolph, Librarian.

As in former years the orchestra played for the evening productions of the dramatics department. Included in their other activities were performances at St. Leo's Center in December, at the Music Festival, and also at various grade school assemblies throughout Webster. In addition the orchestra participated in the Echo coronation, in high school assemblies, and also in the graduation exercises.

It can be plainly seen that the High School Concert Orchestra was one of the most active organizations of the school.

Concert Band

The concert band was a group of about eighty-five members under the direction of Mr. Hans Lemcke. At the beginning of the year Bud Murphy was chosen president, Bob Longstreet—vice-president, Martha Lemcke—secretary, Don Harris—treasurer, and Marilyn Kegg and Rita Alexander—librarians. It was as a member of this band that the student began to appreciate and to realize the worth of his previous training in school musical organizations.

Many of the members belonged to the Athletic Band which has been active again this year. It was always a familiar sight at the home football games, lending to the excitement and spirit of both the teams and the spectators.

The band played for the Hannibal game, participated in Armistice and Navy Day Parades, played at the Masonic Temple for a family evening, and presented assemblies at the high school in Eureka, Missouri, as well as in our own school. In addition to these activities the concert band acted as host to those groups which came to the St. Louis County Music Festival.

Lower School Orchestra

"Holiday For Strings"

The Lower School Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Carl Werner was open to any student in the junior school. The members elected their officers at the beginning of the second semester as follows: Joan Gray, president; Pat McGee, vice-president; Peggy Gynn, secretary-treasurer; and Shirley Darrow and Ann Stearns, librarians.

Many of the members were junior school students who had previously played in grade school orchestras. Some of them continued their individual training by studying with a teacher selected by the school. It was in Lower School Orchestra that those students interested in instrumental music developed the skill and were given the necessary instruction to enable them to take their place in the High School Concert Orchestra.

The Lower School Orchestra stimulated further interest in our music department by playing at assemblies in all the grade schools; and, as a result, created enthusiasm among prospective members before they entered high school. Other public appearances were made at high school programs and the County Music Festival.

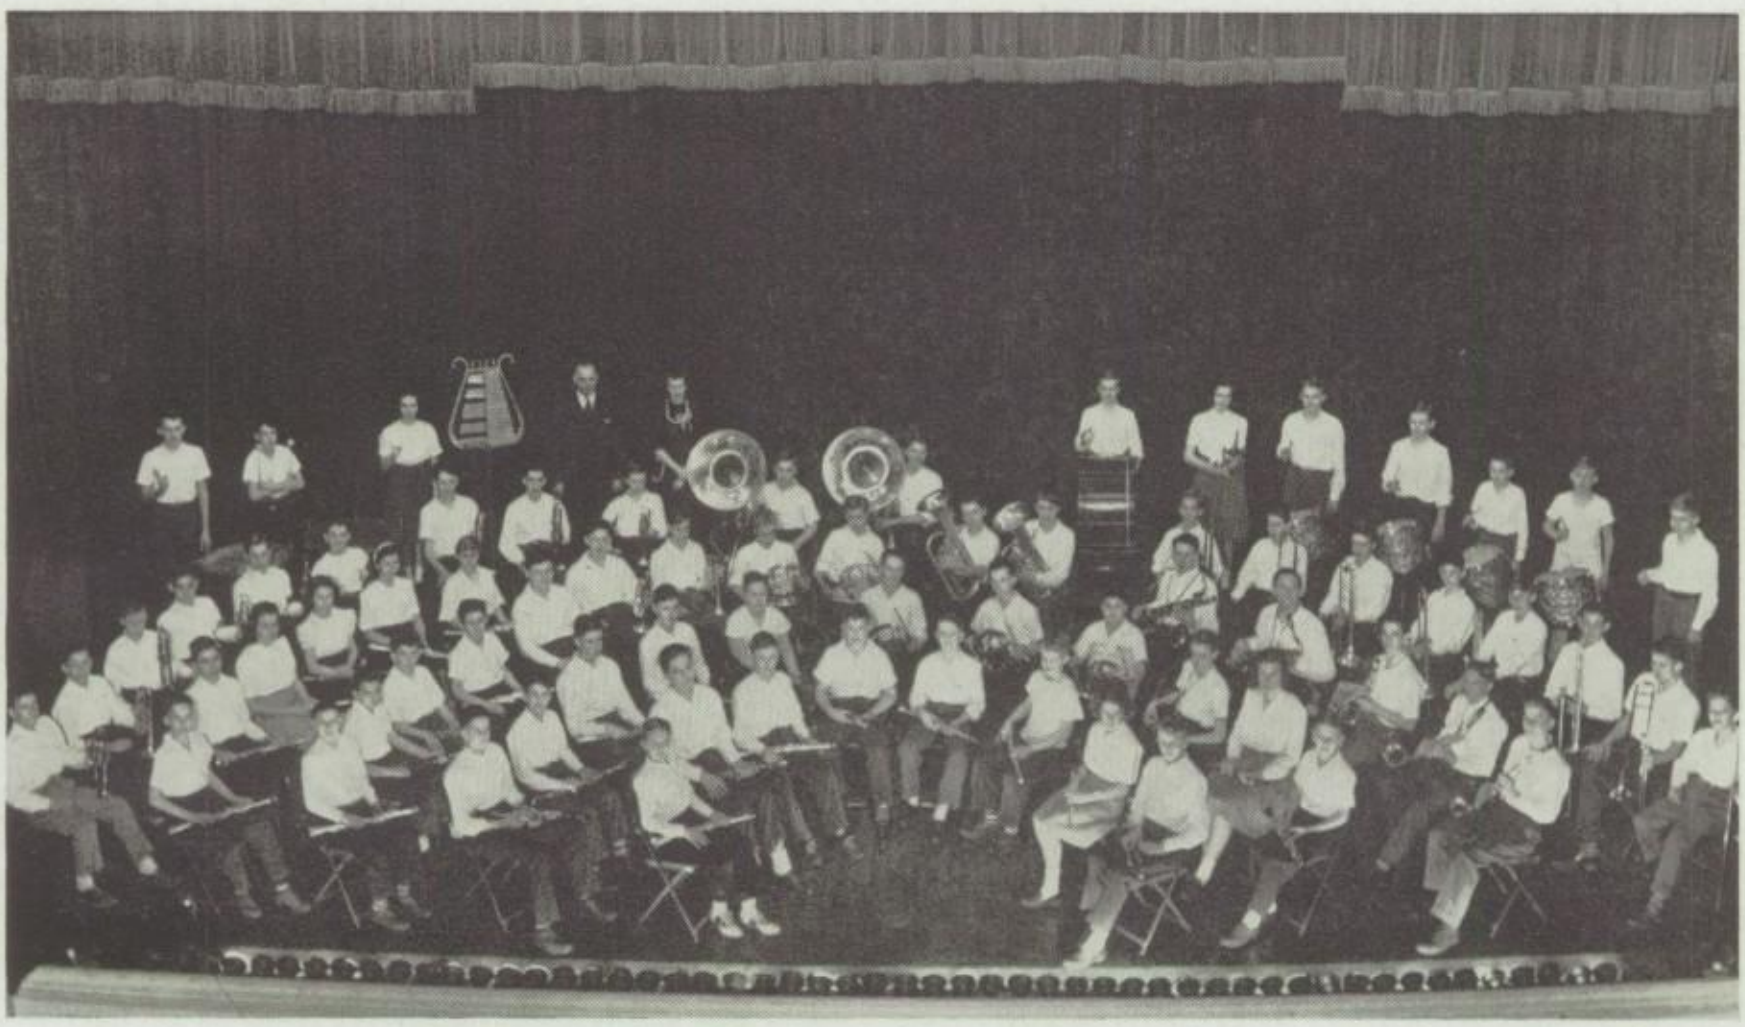
Junior School Band

The Junior School Band was composed of those boys and girls in the lower school who were interested in eventually becoming a member of the upper school band. As before, the band was under the direction of Mr. Hans Lemcke, who was capably assisted this year by Miss Louise Ide. This group, which met every day fifth hour, elected the following officers: Bob Gremp—president, Louis Booth—vice-president, Philip Muth—secretary-treasurer, and Carolyn Yoder—librarian.

During the class period the fundamentals were stressed and the elemental theory was carried out. Also, various ensembles were formed to help students develop skill and technique. Those students who did not possess their own instruments were allowed to borrow them from the school so that they could continue with band activities. Besides the instruction work the lower school band obtained experience in performing before audiences by playing in the County Music Festival.

Junior Jivers

The members of this band have certainly proved themselves capable and industrious workers.



ATHLETICS

The vision of World Unity can be realized only through the diligent and tireless efforts of intelligent men and women. It is the aim of Webster High athletics to instill the principles of sportsmanship, endurance, correct training of body and mind, and obedience to orders so that one may have the opportunity to prepare for his individual part in a unified world.

Football

"Where's the ball?"

"Look at the referee!"

On September 1, practice of the 1945 Webster football squad began. The Statesmen were quickly rounded into condition by Coach Ray Moss and the two co-captains, Arthur Carlson and Norman Carlson, and were ready within two weeks to begin their schedule. The team—light, well-balanced, and fast—got off to a good start by defeating Cleveland 19-7. Cleveland drew first blood by scoring in the beginning quarter; but the Statesmen came right back to even up the score in the second quarter, and then went on to score in the third and fourth periods. The Mossmen then blanked C. B. C., 19-0. They scored twice in the second quarter and once in the fourth. Following that victory, Webster battled the hard-hitting Normandy squad to a 6-6 tie. Normandy tallied in the second quarter, and the score remained 6-0 until later in the fourth period when the Statesmen, with six minutes to play, made an eighty yard drive for a touchdown. The Statesmen continued their winning streak by defeating Ritenour 19-6. Neither team scored in the first half, but Webster came through twice in the third quarter and once in the fourth. The Mossmen then met Wellston and Maplewood whom they defeated 13-6 and 37-6, respectively. A trip to

Football

Hannibal resulted in another victory by a 20-0 score. After a ten-day rest, the Orange and Black defeated Clayton 47-12. The final game was the traditional Turkey Day game with the spirited Kirkwood Pioneers. It ended in a 12-0 victory for the Statesmen and closed one of the finest seasons in the team's history. The Orange and Black were rated as the best team in the county and were given a bid to play the leading city team on Thanksgiving Day. However, the game was unable to be played because of the previous arrangements with Kirkwood.

The Statesmen amassed a total of 192 points, an average of 21.3 points per game, while their opponents scored only 43 points, an average of 4.8 points per game. Responsible for the season's success was Moss' superb coaching plus the fine team work and spirit of the whole squad.

Chalk Talk

Sophomore Football

The "B" football team, directed by Coach Bryant, played a total of five games and gathered a total of 92 points, average 18.4 points per game. They won four games, lost only one, and were scored upon only once by their opponents.

After only three days of regular practice, the boys started off the season on the wrong foot by losing to Clayton 7-6. After that mishap, however, the team got down to business and "hit their stride." The next game was with Maplewood, and the junior statesmen trampled the Leafs 20-0. Then came the game with Ritenour which Webster won 34-0. In the Kirkwood contest, the Websterites once again proved their superiority as they downed the Pioneers by a score of 13-0. The final game with the Normandy Vikings also resulted in a 13-0 victory for the Bryant boys and closed a very successful season for the team. Many of the "B" boys went on to play with the varsity after the close of their season. The team elected Bob Stahlhut for their Captain.

Hockey

Soon after the beginning of school all senior school girls who were interested signed up to play hockey. After about one month of drilling, practicing, and playing, the three class teams were chosen from these after-school teams. These class teams took part in the Hockey Sports Day at Washington University last fall. Although the juniors were the only Webster team to win, the games were close and exciting, and the afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by all those who attended. The season ended with four losses for the sophomores; one win, two ties, and one setback for the juniors; and four defeats for the seniors.

Varsity Squad

The varsity squad was composed of the best players of the sophomore, junior, and senior class teams. This year it had for its members two sophomores, eight juniors, and five seniors. In their three games against the varsity teams of other county schools, the Webster varsity, with Nancy Salveter as captain, lost to Clayton, tied Kirkwood, and beat Maplewood.

Basket Ball

"How'd that happen?"

Did he hit it?

The 1945-46 basketball team under the direction of Coach Leonard King played a total of sixteen games of which they won eight and lost eight. Under the leadership of the co-captains, Curtis Burton and Charlie Stephens, the Kingmen scored a total of 618 points, an average of about 38 points per game.

During the Christmas holidays Webster entered the annual Normandy Invitational Basketball Tournament. After beating Mehlville and pushing past Jennings High, the Statesmen entered the semi-finals against the powerful Wellston five. The game, which was a thriller, was won by Wellston in the last fifteen seconds of play.

The record of the Statesmen did not, however, show their real ability. Many games were lost by small margins, and if the Kingmen had had their share of "good breaks" during the season they would have turned defeat into victory. A good example of this was in games with both Normandy and Cleveland at the Maplewood gymnasium. Normandy, the county champion, and Cleveland, one of the most powerful teams in the city, were both outplayed and outpointed by Webster in the first half by eight and five point margins respectively. Because of unfortunate play, however, the Statesmen lost by close scores in the last quarter.

Basket Ball

Hurrah for Norm!

On February 19, the Webster hoopsmen entered the Sub-regional Tournament at Maplewood High School. The Sub-regional has existed for many years and is played on the basis that the winner of the tournament, and also the second place team, are entitled to compete in the State Tournament, which was held this year in St. Louis at the Washington University Field House. The Statesmen were placed in a bracket with Southwest, Brentwood, Chaminade, McBride, and Cleveland, the latter being one of the finest teams in the state. Webster drew a bye and automatically passed into the quarter finals, in which they beat Southwest 57-37. The Statesmen then contested with Cleveland in the semi-finals losing 44-33. Webster still had a chance for third place, but as their hopes had been slightly deflated, they didn't seem to click, and they dropped the game to Chaminade 45-35.

Sophomore Basket Ball

Sink it, Sophs!

On February 18, the sophomores entered the annual Sophomore Basketball Tournament which took place at Wellston High School. As in past years, Webster made a fine showing in this tournament, for the team of 1944-45 captured first place honors. In the first game of the tournament the junior statesmen had no difficulty in defeating the hosts, Wellston, by the score of 44-18. In the semi-finals, the "Sophs" met with stiff opposition in the Normandy Vikings, but they managed to defeat them 22-21. The next night they clashed with the Clayton Greyhounds for the championship. The game was a thriller, and the score throughout was nip and tuck. With but thirty seconds remaining, center Len Owen dropped in a basket which clinched the game 24-23, and also the championship.

The sophomore basketball squad, under the direction of Coach Ray Moss, played a total of sixteen games, winning twelve and losing four. The "Sophs" made a total of 477 points, averaging about 29 points per game.

Girls' Basket Ball

The varsity basketball team enjoyed a very successful season this year. In the five games played against the varsity teams of the other county schools, our girls lost one, and won the remaining four. They lost to the University City team and won their games against Wellston, Brentwood, Maplewood, and Kirkwood. After each one of these games, the home team treated the visitors to refreshments.

The varsity was, as usual, chosen from the best players of the class teams which in turn were selected from the girls who came out for the after-school basketball tournament. The sophomore team lost five; the juniors lost one, tied one, and won three; and the senior team lost four and won one.

Webster was well represented in the basketball speed shooting contest which was held at Kirkwood this year. Each county school was invited to send two girls. Carol Pence and Molly Vanderbilt, both from Webster, came in first and second respectively.

Wrestling

Grunt and Groan Artists

Coach Bryant's grapplers wrestled nine matches, winning three, losing five, and tying one. They defeated Wellston twice, split even with Kirkwood, and dropped matches to Maplewood twice, Normandy twice, and Ritenour once. The team elected William Pfeiffer for their captain.

On February 14 began the Missouri State Wrestling Tournament, in which Webster competed with the other high school wrestling teams in the state of Missouri.

The Statesmen upheld the fine records they had established in the past with one state champion, Louie Allen, who took first place in the 154 pound class. Mel Baureis took second in the 112 pound class, William Pfeiffer second in the 138 pound class, and Carl Deutsch third in the heavyweight class. The wrestlers and the weights in which they competed were: Melvin Baureis—112; Bob Day—120; "Brush" Zakarian—127; Beck and Cottam—133; Bill Pfeiffer—138; Henry and Gonz—145; Louis Allen—154; George Schlatter—165; Bob Zinke and Carl Deutsch—heavyweights.

Volleyball

A large number of girls turned out for the after-school volleyball tournament this year. This intra-mural tournament was carried on for approximately one month. Games were played on three days of each week. However, no one team played more than one game in a week.

The sophomore, junior, and senior class teams were chosen from the girls who had played in all of their scheduled games. These girls were selected on the basis of their skill, good sportsmanship, and willingness to co-operate.

Each of the class teams played four games. Due to the present building program, all of these were played away from Webster. Webster's opponents this year were the class teams of Maplewood, Wellston, Ritenour, and Kirkwood High Schools.

After the class teams had finished their schedules, the varsity squad was chosen from the best players of the three class teams. The volleyball season came to its official close with the Varsity Sports Day at University City High School on April 5.

Varsity Baseball

As soon as warm weather appeared, activity began on the baseball diamond which was located at Forty Acres. Coach Leonard King in his first baseball season at Webster was beginning to get started on the 1946 squad, to which eight major lettermen returned. The Kingmen played a total of thirteen games during the season.

Girls' Baseball

In April many girls played on after-school baseball teams. These teams played their games at the Goodall playground.

The class teams, chosen from the after-school teams, played three games each. Webster's opponents this year were Kirkwood, Maplewood, and Ritenour. A Varsity Sports Day was held at Washington University on May 11.

Track

The home stretch

The 1946 contingent of the track team began training early in March; and by the beginning of April, Coach Ray Moss had chosen both his junior and senior squads. This year the track team had difficulty in finding a training site, for the construction work on the new cafeteria and gymnasium, and also the newly-inaugurated spring football practice limited the track facilities here at school. However, the boys kept in shape by running up to Forty Acres and back to school, a good two miles. A sixth of a mile track, and a sand pit were built at Forty Acres where most of the training took place.

The stronger part of the team consisted of returning veterans: Bill Peterson, Jere French, Ronnie Crossman, Chester Deuser, Adolph Meier, Earl Hobbs, Bill Schramm, and Bob Cooper. The rest of the team was composed largely of newcomers. The main events this year were the U-City Invitational, the District meet, and the State meet.

FEATURES

At Webster Groves High School, extra-curricular activities are of primary importance in the development of the student's personality. May these pictures of our various school organizations serve to remind each one that through active participation in one or more such organizations he may develop a more mature and well-balanced personality; and, by so doing, more adequately prepare himself for his work in a unified world.

Webster, Alma Mater,
Unto thee with joy we give our hearts and hands;

Hail then! Hail to thee!

NEW WEBSTER GYMNASIUM COMPLETED

GYMNASIUM AND STADIUM COMPLETED AT LONG LAST

The Webster Groves High School's new gymnasium and stadium is now completed. Since the fall of 1945, the men have been at work, or at a reasonable facsimile of such if one exaggerates a little. This work has employed engineers, ditch diggers, carpenters, painters, brick layers, shovel leaners, gossip mongers, and Mr. Phillips.

In the last few years the project was accelerated to a new high in building. The men only struck 293 out of 365 days those years. The gymnasium, stadium, athletic field, and lunchroom cover an area of four blocks, 9 yards, 2 feet, 5 inches, and 23 centimeters. They are still figuring the millimeters.

The buildings were completed with only a minimum of noise, confusion, and work. It is remarkable that with such a large undertaking only 18 students were killed by flying timber. Six were injured from falling in holes, and Gab Hirsch was cut in half because the workmen mistook him for a board.

When the foreman reported the completion of their ten years' labor, Mr. Latta swooned and no one has been able to bring him out of it as yet.

The boys of the high school will take over the new gymnasium for their athletics as soon as the girls finish their jacks tournament.

Miss America Chosen

On the sunny beaches of California crowds have been gathered for the past week to watch the competition for "Miss America" of 1956. Never has such an array of beauty been gathered in one place!

As each sylph approached, "Ohs" and "Aws" arose from the crowd. The judges could not make a decision, so the contest was prolonged a week.

At last, their choice was announced, and Martha Ruddy as "Miss Webster Groves" became the new "Miss America" for 1956. The other contestants who participated in the event were: "Miss America of 1939," Miss Brooklyn, Miss Dead End—representing the Dead End Kids; Miss Gravel Gerty, Miss Lena the Hyena—backed by Lil' Abner. Miss Olive Oyl, Miss Kirkwood. and Miss Parnall.

Julian Phillips and Bob Busse were judges.

Production Of "Our Town" To Be Given By Class Of '46

The Class of 1946 has decided to have a class reunion in Greenwich Village during July and August. The highlight of the reunion will be the staging of the production "Out Town," by the members of the class. The "Stage Manager," who talks all the time will be portrayed by Joe Stehlin, who was chosen for his qualifications in this field. Miss Gibbs, the town gossip, will be played by Marilyn Rice. Mrs. Webb will be played by Nancy Lee Nansen—someone has to know how to act. The actors and actresses have been rehearsing the play tirelessly and are very anxious to present the play.

They have arranged for a one night stand in Brooklyn, and the house is already sold out—to doting relatives. The whole show is being "angeled" by Fred Buck, the notorious Webster tycoon who has spent lavishly to make the play a success.

The date of the opening performance is Suesday, August 32nd.

LOST

Comtesse Frednara Parkerski who has just signed a three year contract with the Metropolitan Opera Company to sing "Cricket On The Hearth" has lost her voice. When last heard, it was hitting a high C. Liberal reward.

FOUND

Latin Pony found under desk in Room 304. A name in the left hand corner is not quite distinguishable, but looks like Hazel K. The finder returning the pony for reward would keep it but is a Spanish student.

Dumb: When do the leaves begin to turn?

Bell: The night before exams start.

Steve Schmid A Murderer!

Webster must now claim a murderer, along with its statesmen, famous theatrical people, and garbage collectors. Steve Schmid, voted one of the most industrious and most likely to succeed by his senior class at Webster High, has committed a social offense unbelievable to Emily Post. Authorities were shocked that such an intelligent young man would commit such an intolerable error. The scene of the murder took place in Webster Groves High School, Room 108. Steve had returned to pay a visit to his old French teacher, Miss Woods, whom he had been very fond of in his high school days—she had given him all A's at the point of a gun. Miss Woods and Schmid had a nice chat, and when he rose to leave Miss Woods asked him to conjugate the French verb avoir. On Steve's first utterance Miss Woods went running from the room screaming, "You fiend, to think that anyone could murder the French language so!" Schmid has been held without bail in 109 until he can conjugate the verb properly.

It was a cold morning in January. Bob was trying to start his car, and steam was pouring from the engine.

Jim: "Hey, Bob, your car's smoking."

Bob: "That's all right; it's old enough."

My love has flew
Him did me dirt
Me did not know
Him was a flirt.
To they in love
I here forbid
Lest they be doed
As I been did.

Say! I thought you said your brother was not living, and I hear he's in jail.

What! You call that life!

Flight to the Moon

Professor James Deitz has just accomplished the most amazing, spectacular feat ever known to man. He has flown to the moon! This trip has been in the planning for months. The professor had consulted endlessly with the greatest flying experts, Pat Bauman and Valerie Blaes, and with their help and advice was able to reach this great height. The spectroship, built by Deitz, surpasses any scientific model of its type. He has been working on it for years in the utmost secrecy. His only confident has been Doc Schultz from Webster Groves who inspired him and urged him to finish his great undertaking. This long dreamed of ambition has finally been fulfilled, and to think that a Webster man has achieved it. Missouri is proud of her scientist. The faculty of Webster Groves High School is planning a large banquet for Professor Deitz and will present him with a plaque in honor of the occasion. The date of this banquet is not scheduled to be set until Professor Deitz can find a way to get off the moon.

New Airline To Be Built

The well-known personage, Mr. Watkins from Hudson Bay, and who is known as Jiggaboo Jay to his old classmates at Webster, has been assigned the task of clearing the jungles of Brazil for a new landing trip for "They Fly So High Airline."

This is to be a very important job, and will tend towards good feelings on the part of this country and Brazil—if anything is left of Brazil when the project is finished. (No offense to Mr. Watkins.) The company has also hired Mr. Donal Harris of Gilman's Gulch as foreman of the job, and yes-man to Mr. Watkins. With this team at work the airline expects to be finished (you can take this literally) in several months.

Watkins and Harris will make the trip to Mexico in a '32 Buick they have salvaged from the antique department of the scrap iron museum. Mr. Watkin's last assignment was the razing of the old homestead called Tamp Nuguet.

When asked why he had undertaken such a difficult task of plowing through jungles, Mr. Watkins replied: "It reminds me of my 'overlands' back in Webster." Mr. Curtis Burton is the promoter of the new airline.

DOINGS OF THE SENATE

Last week Senator William "Ange" Peterson, Jr., delivered his earth-shaking speech (Washington was having an earthquake) to the Senate. This oration is destined to be recorded in the annals of men (if the printer can translate it). This subject has been before the house for months, but Senator Peterson was the first to gather enough courage to bring it forth. He started a filibuster in which he delivered the Gettysburg Address, all of Einstein's theories, told how to train fleas, and expounded at length the details of his mile run in the 220 yard dash against Cunningham, who was left behind on the first lap—he slipped on a banana peel. We have selected this quote as a highlight from his speech: "On the theory of Snickelfritz found in Article 6, page 29, column 2, near the middle, to the right of the 3rd comma, and below the 2nd semicolon of his 4th book on Socialistic Establishment of World Unity, the differential and integral calculus of framestein damoloff malagapap closely associated with anticlisestablishidedmanterianism is all a bunch of hooey—bunk that is. That's a joke, son (don't ask me that)." If you can understand this, you've got nothing on us.

The Editors

Mr. Latta (rapping on speaker's stand in assembly): "Order!"

Entire Assembly: "Beer."

Cop (through traffic noise): "Wait a minute! Say, mister, don't you know what it means when I raise my hand?"

Coach Roberts: "I ought to, officer; I was a school teacher for 37 years!"

Fredna: "Where's your horse, Louie?"

Louie: "I shot him."

Corky: "Was he mad?"

Louie: "Well, he didn't seem to be any too pleased."

Ed Goodrich: "Who's in the chicken house?"

Voice: "Nobody but us chickens."

CAMPAIGN CONTINUES - RATS TO YOU

The campaign to clean the city of rats is still raging in St. Louis. However, most of the rats have been driven from downtown St. Louis to the county. Webster Groves has especially been infested with these animals.

Webster High has had its share. The rat experts say they were attracted to the school by the piano music of a Webster Alumnus, Steve Kohlbry, who had returned to play "Your Feet's Too Big," for the a cappella choir.

We must get rid of these rats; so as I see it, the first thing to do is rid Webster of Steve Kohlbry. The rats might follow him, as they did the Pied Piper; this might be especially true of the leaders Cappel and Art, as they are personal friends of Steve.

This battle against the rats in alleys, restaurants, and homes must be successful. Other places in Webster which are over-run with rats are Cordes' Tavern, Rippley's Beanery, and the alley behind the home of Mr. Norman Carlson. THESE must be cleaned up. Webster, get behind this campaign; and rid your county of RATS.

A most tragic ending to a beautiful romance has occurred. Miss Betty Bachle, attractive Webster Groves socialite, and Mr. Charles Stephens, now situated with M. A. C., had set their wedding date for April 1st. It was to be held at "The Little Synagogue Around the Block," on 2nd and 6th Streets. A large reception with hundreds of invited guests and Herb, the uninvited, had been planned with a three tiered cake and kegs of beer.

At 2:00 a. m. Betty arrived at the church, and its pews filled rapidly with people who had come to see the nuptials so long looked forward to. Many were Betty and Charles' old schoolmates who remembered so well seeing them supporting the wall outside 103. 2:30 arrived and Betty, beautiful in her wedding finery and her hair curled, was waiting for the strains of the wedding march.

Where was the groom? An hour passed, as hours have a way of doing, but still the groom did not appear. The guests left, the minister left, the family left. All went to find Charles. But to no avail!

Finally a little boy, on his way to deliver the morning papers, disclosed that Charles had been in such a hurry to reach the church that he did not look where he was going, fell in a man-hole, and disappeared forevermore.

Moral: NEVER walk to church.

"Generally speaking, women are—"

"Yes, they are?"

"What are they?"

"Generally speaking."

LUNCH CHECK: The tin you love to touch.

Miss Howard: "What are the beauties of education?"

Marc Gautier: "School teachers."

Carolyn Hartnett: "Who's that cute boy from Eden?"

Arlene Elbring: "It must be Adam."

Mr. Settle: "Mr. Gonz, leave the room."

Jack: "I ain't doin' nothin'."

Mr. Settle: "That's why I want you to leave."

KILROY FOUND

The long, thorough, ten-year search of the F. B. I. for the mysterious gentleman known as Kilroy has not been in vain. Yesterday at the Forest Park playground, located in Forest Park, two blocks from the Zoo, Kilroy was discovered.

Bob Busse, now head of the F. B. I.—department of "We Must Find Kilroy Club," caught him in the act, as he took candy from a baby, knocked down his fort, and was writing "Kilroy was here" in the ruins of the sand box. Busse nabbed him, and took him to the station where he underwent a terrific cross-examination. He was given the 1st degree, the 2nd degree, the 3rd degree, and since Busse couldn't count higher, they quit. F. B. I. men all over the nation have been on the trail of Kilroy unceasingly. At one stage of the search, they were led to the Webster Groves High School where Kilroy had marked up the walls, desks, and blackboards, but they could not find him. For hours Kilroy was grilled, and finally, by the promise of a ride on the merry-go-round, Kilroy was persuaded to remove his cheesecloth mask.

At last Kilroy's true identity was made known. He was none other than "Musie" Owen!

Tom Patrick Wins Phi Beta Kappa Key

Tom Patrick, alumnus of Webster Groves High School of 1946, has been awarded the Phi Beta Kappa Key. This brilliant scholar of philosophy was given this award because of his outstanding volumes on different phases of the subject. His works are said to surpass even those of Confucious, Aristotle, and Plato—not the dog! Mr. Patrick finished his education at Notre Dame and won his B. S., M. D., LL. D., M. A., Ph. D., B. Ed., and P. U. at Oxford.

Last year Patrick was voted the "World's Foremost Educator" by the Antartic Asylum Association. The story behind Patrick's success started in the plaster halls of our old Webster High. Tom won many honors at Webster for his scholarship; but this was not his fault. Such an intelligent mind was not understood by the faculty at Webster, and thus he suffered from the D's and F's they inflicted upon him.

We struggling street cleaners and bottle washers now have a goal set before us. What Patrick has done, we, too, can do.

Love Worn Column

By Miss Y. B. Lonely

Dear Miss Lonely:

I am a young girl of 57 who needs the companionship of a wealthy man. He must be tall, dark, handsome, and 21—preferably unmarried.

I have searched for the right man for years, but in vain. I'm so miserable for no one will have me. I cannot understand it, for I am very easy to get along with. I'm 6 feet tall, knock-kneed, pigeon toed, cross-eyed, and rheumatic. I have a lovely home on Trash Alley, have never had any complaint on my cooking—they didn't live to tell it.

There has to be a solution to my problem somewhere. Can you help me, Miss Lonely? What shall I do?

Sincerely,
Miss Ima Goon

Dear Miss Ima Goon:

Shoot yourself.

Most sincerely,
Miss Y. B. Lonely

The Theory of Kaiser and Fariss

Two remarkable men in the field of science, mathematics, and what have you, have discovered a new theory. These men are Bernard Kaiser and Robert Fariss both of Webster Groves.

Their theory is on relativity. Einstein insists it is a direct steal on his theories, but Kaiser and Fariss have triumphed where Einstein failed. They have found the 4th dimension. This dimension is based on the three dimensions—length, width, and depth, world evolution, time, and the bumps on the skin of an alligator combined in the "bonds of chemical affinity" (thank you, Doc).

The two men reached the discovery of this dimension by jumping at conclusions — how else? The world's greatest scientists and mathematicians have pondered over this dimension for years; and now they must ponder on the explanation, for not even Fariss nor Kaiser understands the newest discovery.

Now the two scientists are trying to recover from their condition of mania, and then they will set to work again—this time in search of the 5th dimension.

My Diary

Sept. 10 At last I am a senior despite the doubts of my parents and teachers that I would ever make the goal. A half-day schedule is going to make this year an even more unusual and difficult one; yet I feel sure after only the first day that our senior class will be one of the best ever.

Sept. 13 Advanced Choir began their year of activities with their annual get-together picnic. Skits included impersonations of Miss Rep and a rendition of "Chloe."

Sept. 17 The first assembly of the year was given today, and here's hoping that there will be many more. Come on, everybody, and buy an Activity Ticket!

Sept. 20 A fashion show and a melodrama entitled "The Lamp Went Out" were presented at the G. A. A. rush party.

Sept. 28 To acquaint new students with school activities a party was given by the Student Council in the Little Theater.

Sept. 29 Statesmen trample C. B. C., 19-0, in a swell football game.

Oct. 5 Nearly broke my back on the Echo Paper strength-testing machine at the Fun and Fiddle tonight, and also my arm throwing at "The Craziest Man in Captivity."

Oct. 6 Webster Groves is famous! We made the Hit Parade tonight with Gordon Jenkins' song, "Homesick."

Oct. 12 Webster fans sat on the edges of their seats as our boys tied Normandy in the last seconds of the game.

Oct. 20 Webster continues undefeated as the Statesmen beat Ritenour, 19-6. Ate hot dogs at the Y weiner roast afterwards.

Oct. 31 Collected bars of soap in preparation for tonight.

Nov. 7 140 high-spirited football fans traveled noisily by bus to Hannibal and returned home at 1:20 the next morning rather sleepy but elated over Webster's 20-0 victory.

Nov. 8-9 No school! Yes, you'll have to admit it that at times those teachers are pretty swell!

Nov. 12, 13, and 14 "Quality Street" was presented by the dramatics department.

Nov. 21 Became quite hoarse at the big pep rally and program given to keep Webster and Kirkwood students on a friendly (?) basis. Let's have more of the "Backroom Trio."

Nov. 22 Hallelujah! Ring out the bells! We no longer have the little brown jug in our possession after a most pleasing 12-0 victory over Kirkwood in brutally cold, windy weather. I still think I left a few frostbitten toes scattered amongst the bleachers.

Nov. 24 Dotty Worley and Joan Falvey were crowned Webster and Kirkwood Football Queens, respectively, at the traditional Friendship Dance.

Nov. 29 Gordon Jenkins, "the finger," thrilled students by appearing in an assembly and playing requested numbers on the piano.

Dec. 7 Webster thinclads won over C. B. C., 23-17, in the first basketball game of the season.

Dec. 13 The Latin Club gave its annual Christmas party after school today.

Dec. 20-21 Vespers were more inspiring than ever, and I felt a special pang of remorse in realizing that this is my last Christmas at W.G.H.S.

Dec. 25 That man was here again!

Dec. 29 Statesmen were nosed out by Wellston in the Christmas Tournament, 30-29.

Jan. 2 "All good things must come to an end," (so somebody said) and here I am back once more to haunt the halls and hate the homework.

Jan. 14 Seniors and juniors spent the afternoon taking Ohio Scholastic Aptitude tests. Oh, why do I have to be so dumb?

Jan. 21-24 More tests—this time exams. What ever possessed me to say that Chrysler discovered the Mississippi instead of DeSoto? Sure will miss those mid-seniors, especially Corky and his good-looking clothes and Clyde and his "orange dejuicer."

My Diary

Jan. 28 We're back on the breadline again. How will I ever be able to go to school in the afternoon again? Woe is me.

Jan. 29 Lost a heartbreaker to Normandy by a 43-40 decision.

Jan. 30 Report cards! Oh well, I wanted to take trig over anyhow.

Feb. 5 Louie Allen won his first match in the Golden Gloves.

Feb. 6 Wachob, the Magician, entertained a too small audience in an after-school show. Really now, just where did that baby bottle come from?

Feb. 8 Are our faces red! Kirkwood thoroughly trounced our boys, 40-33, in a packed gymnasium.

Feb. 11 "My Sister Eileen" started its one-week run today. Gosh, but do I wish I had a sister like that. A sister?

Feb. 14 Lots of girls sported beautiful Valentine corsages. I didn't feel too left out with Elmer's bunch of dandelions.

Feb. 15 Seniors received class averages and those future honor grads are plenty proud.

Feb. 23 Peggy Krimmel was chosen Paper Doll at the Echo Paper Prom—a super dance.

Feb. 27 Gained blisters on my fingers from punching holes in the Kuder Interest Test.

March 7 Thespian initiation was held in the Little Theatre. 'Twas quite an evening!

March 9 Junior Queen is Margaret Drake. We'll have to hand it to those juniors; it surely was a swell prom.

March 15 Dr. B. F. Hall spoke in an assembly presented by the Latin Club in observance of Latin Week. Choir also sang a group of "Sacred songs and light opera numbers" including "Sioux City Sue."

March 16 Collected quite a few lollipops at the Benefit Bounce, a combination dance and carnival, given by the Student Council to help raise money for the athletic fund for injured players.

March 18-19 Had my picture taken—chest x-rays to determine "T. B. or not T. B."

March 22 Glenn Cunningham, famous track star, made a plea to the students today in an assembly for world-wide unity amid camera flashes.

April 1 April Fool's Day. Just wait until I catch the guy who glued the pages of my chemistry experiments together.

April 3 Choir left school at noon to rehearse and present a program for Scruggs, Vandervoort, and Barney employees at the Statler Hotel. That bare midriff of Brown's was really stylish!

April 8-13 "Kind Lady," dramatics production, had a successful run.

April 10 Candidates for Both Schools President gave their campagin speeches today. Seems funny that we won't be allowed to vote this year.

April 12 Played Southwest in the first baseball game of the season.

April 19-22 Easter vacation! Congratulations to the School Board for granting us an extra day's leave.

April 27 Martha Ruddy was crowned Echo Queen in the first Coronation since 1942. It was truly lovely.

May 1 I'm in a rather pensive mood tonight. Just think—in a little over a month we'll be alumni. Gosh, it doesn't seem possible. Yet many more memorable times are being planned for the short time left: Kampus King Koronation—wonder who "he" will be, the release of the best Annual ever and the signing of autographs, the senior assembly which ought to be a riot, exams—what would we do without them? Senior Day, the Senior Prom and picnic, the baccalaureate service, and last but not least, graduation, where we will turn another page, close another chapter in our lives, and say: "Yes, my high schools days were wonderful ones, never to be forgotten."

No Fairy Story

When that ancient spinner of tales had Prince Charming find his princess by use of the glass slipper, he not only told the Cinderella story, but the first Glass Container Story.

Prince Charming was a man of royal discernment. He wanted to see to be sure . . . Thus ran the fairy story. Glass containers are no longer fairy stories — they are sales stories. H-A Glass Containers combine packing efficiency and smart selling.
